

WINDOWS 10 IS ENDING: ARE YOU READY FOR WHAT COMES NEXT?

From 14 October 2025, Microsoft will end support for Windows 10. That means no more security updates, no vulnerability patches, and no technical support.

Yet 82% of UK businesses are still using it. The risks of doing nothing are growing — and so are the cost

WHAT'S CHANGING & WHY IT MATTERS NOW

- 1

No More Security Updates
New vulnerabilities will go unpatched, leaving your business exposed to attack.
- 2

Loss of Technical Support
No help from Microsoft if something goes wrong — even critical issues.
- 3

Compliance Risk
Running unsupported software could breach data protection regulations, exposing you to fines and legal liability.
- 4

Increased Cyber Threats
Outdated systems are a prime target for malware, ransomware, and other threats.
- 5

Missed Opportunities
Windows 11 brings improved performance, enhanced security, and modern features designed to support the way we work today.

HOW TO PREPARE FOR A SMOOTH TRANSITION

Cybit can guide you through a secure, stress-free migration. Here's where to start:

- Audit Your Estate – Identify devices that aren't compatible with Windows 11.
- Check System Readiness – Confirm which systems meet Windows 11's requirements — and which don't.
- Plan for Exceptions – Use Extended Security Updates (ESUs) where short-term upgrades aren't feasible.
- Set Budgets and Timelines – Allocate funding and resources for hardware and software upgrades early.
- Move to the Cloud – Migrate critical applications to cloud platforms for better agility and resilience.
- Test Compatibility and Upskill Teams – Ensure your systems and software work seamlessly with Windows 11. Train your people to get the best from it.
- Decommission Securely – Safely wipe data from outdated devices and recycle responsibly.
